

#NoPassportNeeded

Indigenous Rights & Environmental Justice of Bolivia

June 22 to July 16, 2020

Taught by UO Professor Derrick Hindery, Bolivian Professor Jose Martinez (Quechua) and Bolivian environmental scientist Zulma Villegas

Participants will collaborate with Bolivian indigenous peoples and learn how environmental justice, social justice and indigenous rights are intertwined. In addition to learning through lectures, guest presentations, virtual tours, musical performances and readings you will work on remote service learning projects prioritized by Guarayo and Chiquitano/Monkox indigenous peoples, such as raising awareness and support related to the Amazon fires and COVID-19, developing websites, soliciting donations and identifying markets with indigenous women collectives selling medicinal oils and handicrafts.

Learn more about the program at: <http://geo.uoregon.edu>

Please also consider volunteering with Students for Indigenous Rights and Environmental Justice in Bolivia, founded by students who went to Bolivia through the program in 2019:

Website: sirejbolivia.weebly.com
Follow SIREJ on Facebook @sirejbolivia